Everyone has that one person that they always think about - no matter who he or she is with. No matter how much time has passed. This was the case for David "Blue" Jacobs. At the age of sixteen, Blue's adoptive mother moved him from Greenville, North Carolina to Washington, D.C. in search for a better life. She thought that she was making a better way for Blue, but she only turned him into more of a monster. It wasn't until the loss of a loved one that Blue decided to straighten up his life and leave the streets alone.

When Blue left Greenville, he left behind his best friend, Chrystal Alison. Chrystal's life was dependent upon her relationship with Blue. Misused, abused, and abandoned, Chrystal turned her life over to the hands of those she thought would help her. Chrystal finds herself trapped between a lifestyle that she doesn't want to live and the people that she feels obligated to take care of by any means necessary.

Just when Blue thought it was safe to say that he'd never see Chrystal again, every step he takes seemed to led him right back to her. The heart wants what the heart wants. No matter how many times you tell yourself that you're better off without that person, a part of you will never be able to let go. Take a ride with these characters on their journey to recovery, forgiveness, and closure.
